Description

Repent at Leisure is a beautifully presented 63ft Traditional Stern narrowboat, built in 2006 by Alexander Boat Builders and thoughtfully designed for comfortable living afloat. Whether you're looking for a peaceful liveaboard home or a vessel for extended cruising, this well-equipped and lovingly maintained narrowboat offers both practicality and charm in abundance.

Stepping aboard, you'll find a bright and functional galley that's perfectly equipped for life on the water. The space features a built-in fridge and washing machine, hob with extractor fan, under-counter oven, and generous wall and base units providing ample storage. The galley's layout ensures a seamless flow into the main living areas, making it a pleasure to cook, entertain, and relax onboard.

The saloon offers a warm and inviting space to unwind, complete with radiators and electric heaters for all-season comfort. A three-seater sofa provides plenty of room to stretch out, while two flip-up tables create a versatile area for dining, reading, or working. This is a cosy, welcoming retreat that feels instantly like home.

A separate dinette room enhances the sense of space and flexibility aboard Repent at Leisure. Here, a pull-out double sofa bed offers extra sleeping accommodation, while a gateleg table comfortably seats four for meals or social gatherings. With its own radiator and ample built-in storage, this room is ideal for hosting guests or enjoying quiet evenings onboard.

The master bedroom has been designed with comfort and functionality in mind, featuring a king-sized cross bed that raises electronically to reveal generous under-bed storage. Two wardrobes with drawers offer additional space for clothing and personal items, keeping the cabin neat and well organised. It's a private and tranquil space, perfect for restful nights afloat.

The walk-through bathroom is both elegant and practical, fitted with a large corner shower, marble basin, full-length mirror, heated towel rail, and built-in storage units. For added convenience, the bathroom includes both a pump-out toilet and a Thetford cassette toilet. The space feels light and luxurious, providing all the comforts of home.

Throughout the boat, portholes with fitted bungs provide privacy and insulation, while maintaining the classic charm of a traditional narrowboat. An inbuilt generator, solar panels, a 7Kw inverter, freezer storage, and a small sink in the engine room ensure Repent at Leisure is fully equipped for independent living and long-term cruising.

Every detail of this exceptional narrowboat reflects thoughtful design and careful upkeep. With its warm interior, practical layout, and robust engineering, Repent at Leisure offers a perfect balance of traditional craftsmanship and modern comfort — ready to step aboard and enjoy from day one.
